	Microchip Clinic Registration Form
General Introduction		SECTION 1
Details about Microchipping • Humane Services uses the 24Petwatch Microchip (mini). • The 24 Petwatch microchip is a tiny chip, the size of a grain of rice. Once implanted, each chip has a unique identification number that links your pet to the information you provide today. It is a permanent form of identification that can be read with a universal scanner. • This Microchip is NOT a GPS, rather it is powered by a scanner that sends a signal to the chip, and then reads the unique number stored on it.
Implantation • The Microchip is implanted using a needle under the skin between the shoulder blades in your pet. • Your pet may experience some discomfort during the implantation procedure. Your pet may experience minor bleeding, redness, or swelling at the implantation site for 24-48 hours following the procedure. • Although microchip implantation is considered a safe and effective way to permanently identify your pet, in rare cases the following may occur: ○ infection or prolonged reaction at the implantation site (in these cases, follow up with your veterinary provider will be required). ○ the microchip can move under the skin to a location other than where it was implanted or even migrate back out through the skin. Route scanning of the microchip to confirm presence and/or location is recommended (Once a year). • Microchips that no longer scan within the first year of implantation will be replaced by Humane Services at no charge.
Registration • Humane Services staff will register your microchip with 24Petwatch using the information you have provided today. • Should your contact information change, or you rehome your pet, it will be your responsibility to update this information with 24Petwatch directly. • By consenting to have your pet microchipped today, you consent to your information being release to 24Petwatch for registration.
